

ZACHARY DAY

To Whom it May Concern:

I am an inspired and energetic coach that believes in the importance of developing players to help the team succeed, I have expertise in the use of technology to analyze matches and trainings to help the coaching staff and players develop every day. My qualifications include a USSF C license, and USSF B License to be completed this fall, Football Science Institute Master in High-Performance Coaching, and Football Science Institute Master in Tactical Analysis. Along with those certifications I have earned a Bachelor's degree in Sport and Fitness Management from the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

My beliefs are that we as coaches are responsible for instilling, illustrating, and holding the values of our team to highest standard, I believe that though the use of communication, trust, planning, patience, adaptability, and the constant pursuit of learning we can get the best out of ourselves in turn helping get the best out of our players.

Sincerely,

Zachary Day
